VISTA Technology Services Inc. Builds Stronger Presence in Navy Sector with its Acquisition of General Scientific Corporation

McLean, VA March 16, 2017 – VISTA Technology Services Inc., (VISTA) recently acquired General Scientific Corporation (GSC), a minority owned small business. The acquisition increases VISTA’s customer base allowing for greater opportunities for the company in Naval Sea Systems Command (NAVSEA). “VISTA already has a strong presence with Naval Air Systems Command (NAVAIR) and this acquisition is a great opportunity for us to broaden our pursuit of Navy opportunities by leveraging General Scientific Corporation’s NAVSEA experience and past performance.” stated Rod Buck, President & CEO. “The combination of VISTA and GSC further strengthens our position in the Navy sector while allowing us to pass on savings from the economies of scale we experience”. GSC brings comprehensive capabilities in anti-submarine warfare, acoustic processors, mine warfare, logistics, asset management, earned value management, and technical support in other fields for a growing list of clients.
